

ABSTRACT

Methods for managing business risk include establishing standards and engaging trusted parties to perform due diligence and assessments of business risk against the standards. The results of the assessments are delivered in accordance with a protocol. Trust governance for entities is implemented and trust relationships modeling is performed.